Poetry.

The Sun and the Rose.

The following is copied from a manuscript written by the late Alice Carey. It has never appeared in print, as one of her poems, and is very characteristic, and from her own pen expressed:

The sun, who smiles wherever he goes,
In mere diversion smiled again
The rose of Sunday with a flashing kiss
That he even a bud set them.

So he passed back the night of the sweet
That covered her modest grace,
And kissed her as only a lover could,
Till the crimson burned in her face.

But wo for the day when his golden hair
Tangled her heart in a net,
And wo for the night of dark despair,
When her cheek with tears was wet.

For she loved him as only a maiden could,
And he left her crushed and weak
Striving in vain with her faded mood
To cover her guilty cheek.

Selected Story.

A Legend of Mexico.

BY GEORGE LEPARD.

There was a day when an old man, with white hair, sat alone in a small chamber of a national mansion, his spare but muscular figure resting on an armed chair, his hands clasped, and his deep blue eyes gazing through a winter sky.

The brow of the old man, furrowed with wrinkles; his hair, rising in straight masses, white as the driven snow; his sunken cheek, traversed by marked lines; and thin lips, fixedly compressed, all announced a long and stormy life. All the marks of an iron will, were written upon his face.

His name, I need not tell you, was Andrew Jackson, and he sat alone in the White House.

A visitor entered, without being announced, and stood before the President, in the form of a boy of nineteen, clothed in a coarse round jacket and trousers, and covered from head to foot with mud. As he stood before the President, cap in hand, the dark hair falling in damp clusters about his white forehead, the old man could not help surveying, at a rapid glance the muscular beauty of his figure, the broad chest, the sinewy arms, the head placed proudly on the firm shoulders.

"Your business," said the old man, in his short abrupt way.

"There is a Lieutenancy vacant in the dragoons. Will you give it to me?"

And dashing back the dark hair which fell over his face, the boy, as if frightened at his boldness, bowed low before the President.

The old man could not restrain that smile. It wreathed his firm lip, and shone out from his clear eyes.

"You enter my chamber unannounced, covered from head to foot with mud—you tell me that a Lieutenancy is vacant, and ask me to give it to you. Who are you?"

"Charles May!" The boy did not bow this time, but with his right hand upon his belt, he stood like a wild Indian, erect in presence of the President.

"What claims have you to a commission?" Again the hero surveyed him, and again he faintly smiled.

"Such as you see!" exclaimed the boy, as his dark eyes shone with that dare-devil light, while his form swelled in every muscle, as with the conscious pride of his manly strength and beauty. "Would you——" he bent forward, sweeping aside his curls, once more, while a smile began to break over his lip. "Would you like to see me ride? My horse is at the door. You see I came post haste for this commission."

Silently the old man followed the boy, and together they went from the White House. It was a clear, cold, winter's day: the wind tossed the President's white hairs and the leafless trees stood boldly out against the blue sky. Before the portals of the White House, with the reins thrown loosely on his neck, stood a fine horse, his dark hide smoking foam. He uttered a thrill neigh, as his boy master sprang into the saddle, and in a flash was gone, skimming like a swallow down the road, his mane and tail streaming in the breeze.

The old man looked at them, the horse and his rider, and knew not which to admire the most, the athletic beauty of the boy, or the tempestuous vigor of the horse.

Thrice they threaded the avenues in front of the White House, and at last stood panting before the President, the boy leaning over the neck of his steed, as he coolly exclaimed—"Well, how do you like me?"

"Do you think you could kill an Indian?" the President said, taking him by the hand as he leaped from the horse.

"Aye, and eat him afterwards!" cried the boy, ringing out his fierce laugh, as he read his fate in the old man's eyes.

"You had better come to New Orleans to the commission" and the hero of New Orleans led the way into the White House.

There came a night when an old man—President no longer—sat in the silent chamber of his hermitage home, a picture of age trembling on the verge of eternity. The light that shone upon the table revealed his sunken form resting against the pillows which cushioned his arm chair, and the death-like pallor of his venerable face. In that face, with its white hair, and massive forehead, every thing seemed already dead, except the eyes. Their deep grey-blue shone with the fire of New Orleans, as the old man with his long white fingers grasped a letter postmarked "Washington."

They ask me to designate the man that shall lead our army, in case the annexation of Texas brings on war with Mexico," his voice deep toned and thrilling, even in that hour of decrepitude and decay, rung through the chamber—"there is only one man who can do it, and his name is Zachary Taylor."

It was a dark hour when this boy and this General, both appointed at his suggestion, or by the voice of the Man of the Hermitage, met in the battle of Resaca de la Palma.

By the blaze of cannon, and beneath the canopy of battle smoke, we will behold their meeting.

"Captain May, you must take that battery."

As the old man uttered these words, he pointed far across the ravine with his sword: it was like the glare of a volcano—the steady blaze of that battery, pouring from the darkness of the chaparral.

Before him, summoned from the rear of his command, rose the form of a splendid soldier, whose hair, waving in the breeze, swept his broad shoulders, while its beard fell over his muscular chest.

Hair and beard as dark as midnight, framed a determined face, surmounted by a small cap, glittering with a golden tassel.

The young warrior bestrode a magnificent charger, broad in chest, small in the head, delicate in each slender limb, and with nostrils quivering as though they shot forth jets of flame. That steed was black as death.

Without a word, the soldier turned to his men.

Fifty-four horse, with their casques and breast bare, eighty-four battle horses eighty-four sabres, that rose in the clutch of naked arms, and flashed their lightning over eighty-four faces knit in every feature with battle fire.

"Men, follow!" shouted the young officer, who had been created a soldier by the hand of Jackson, as his tall form rose in the stirrups, and the battle breeze played with his long black hair.

There was no response in words, but you should have seen those horses quiver beneath the spur, and launch away! Down upon the sod with one terrible bound came the sound of their hoofs, while through the air rose in glittering circles the keen sabres.

Four yards in front rode May, himself and his horse the object of a thousand eyes, so certain was the death that loomed before him; proudly in his warrior beauty he rode that steed, his hair floating from beneath his cap in raven curls upon the wind.

He turns his head—his men see his face with stern lip and knit brow; they feel the fire of his eyes; they hear not—"Men, forward!" but "Men, follow!" and away like an immense battle engine, composed of eighty-four men and horses, woven together by swords—away, and on they dash.

They near the ravine; old Taylon follows them with hushed breath; aye, clutching his sword hilt, he sees the golden tassel of May gleaming in the cannon flash.

They are on the verge of the ravine. May still in front, his charger flinging the earth, when from among the cannon starts up a half clad figure, red with blood, and begrimmed with powder.

It is Ridgley, who to-day has sworn to wear the uniform of a dragoon, and to-morrow it will be. At once his eyes catch the light now blazing in the eyes of May, and springing to the cannon, he shouts:

"One moment, my comrades, and I will draw their fire."

The word is not passed from his lips, when his cannon speak out to the battery across the ravine. His flash, his smoke have not gone, but hark! Do you hear that storm of copper balls, clatter against his cannon; did you see it dig the earth beneath the hoofs of May's steed?

"Men, follow!" Do you see that line gleaming with battle fire, that scimetar cutting its glittering circle in the air? Those men can hold their shouts no longer. Rending the air with cries. Hark!

The whole army echo them. They strike their spurs; and worn out and madness, their horses whirl and away to the deadly ravine.

The old man Taylor said after the battle that he never felt his heart beat as it did then.

For it was a glorious sight to see that young May, at the head of his squadron, dashing across the ravine, four yards in advance of his foremost man, while long and dark behind him was stretched the solid line of warriors and their steeds.

Through the windows of the clouds some gleams of sunlight fall—they light on the golden tassel on the cap—they glitter on the up-raised sword—they illumine the dark horse and the rider with their warm glow—they reveal the battery—you see it, above the further bank of the ravine, frowning death from every muzzle.

Nearer and nearly, up and on! never heed the death before you, though it is certain. Never mind the leap, though it is terrible. But up the bank and over the cannon—hurrah! At this dread moment, just as his horse rises for the charge, May turns and sees the sword of the brave Inge on his right; turns again and reads his own soul written in the fire of Sackett's.

To his men once more he turns, his hair streaming back behind him: he points to the cannon, to the steep bank and the certain death; as though inviting them, one and all, to his bridal feast, he says:

"Come!"

They did come. It would have made your blood dance to see it. As one man they whirled up the bank, following May's sword as they would a banner, and striking madly home as they heard, through the roar of battle they heard it, that word of frenzy:

"Come!"

As one mass of flared chests, flaping horses and dazzling scimetars, they charged up the bank; the cannon's fire rushed into their faces; Inge, even as his shout rang on the air, was hid amangled thing beneath his steed, his throat torn open by a cannon shot; Sackett was buried beneath his horse; and seven dragoons fell at the battery's muzzles, their blood and brains hurling into their comrades eyes.

Still waved yonder, above the dead, his sword flating over heaps of dead as with his sabre circling round his head, hair, he cuts his way through the living wall, and says to his comrades: "Come!"

As a grand lion, friend and foe, stop two minutes to get their breath after a volley of musketry, glowering from behind upon his band, beneath his horse's feet the deadly cannon and the ghastly corpses still that young soldier rests on the battery has said, "Silence that battery, and we will do it. The Mexicans are driven from their guns; the cannon are silenced, and May's heroic band, scattering among the mazes of the chaparral, are entangled in a wall of bayonets. Once more the combat deepens, and dyes the sod with blood.

Hedged in by that wall of steel, May gathers eight of his men, and hews his way back to the captured battery. As his charger rears, his sword circles over his head, and strike blow after blow in the foemen's throats. To the left a shout is heard, the Americans, led on by Graham, Pleasonton and Washington, have silenced the battery there, while the whole line of the Mexican army seems concentrated to crush May and his band.

As he went through their locked ranks, so he comes back. Every where his mane masses, his golden tasselled cap, his sword—they know it, too, and, wherever it falls hear the gurgling groan of mortal agony.

Back to the captured cannon he cuts his way, and on the brink of the ravine he beholds a sight that fires his blood.

A solitary Mexican stands there; reaching forth his arms in all the frenzy of a brave man's despair; he entreats his countrymen to turn to man the battery once more, and hurl its fury on the foe. They shrink back, appalled, before that dark horse and its rider. May! The Mexican, a gallant young man whose handsome features can scarce be distinguished on account of the blood which covers them, while his rent uniform bears testimony to his deeds in that day's carnage, clenches his hands, as he flings his curse in the face of his flying countrymen, and then, lighted match in hand, springs to the cannon. A moment and its fire will scatter ten American soldiers in the dust.

Even as the brave Mexican bends near the cannon, the dark charger, with one tremendous leap, is there, and the sword of May is circling over his head.

"Yield!" shouted the voice, which only a few moments ago, when rushing to death, said, "Come!"

The Mexican beheld the form before him, and turned Captain May his sword.

"Gen. La Vega is a prisoner!" he said, and stood with folded arms amid his mangled soldiers.

You see May deliver his prisoner into the charge of the brave Lieut. Stephens, who, when Inge fell, dashed bravely on.

Then would you look for May once more—gaze through the wall of bayonets, beneath that gloomy cloud, and behold him crushing into the whirlpool of the fight his long hair, his sweeping beard, and sword that never for a moment stays its lightning career, making him look like the embodied demon of this battle day.

In the rear of the battle, behold this picture. Where May dashed like a thunderbolt from his side, Gen. Taylor, in his brown coat, still remains. Near him, gazing on the battle, with interest as keen as his own, the stout form, the stern visage of his brother soldier, Twiggs. They have followed with flashing eyes the course of May, they have seen him charge, and seen his men and horses hurled back in their blood, while still he thundered on. At this note of the brave La Vega is led into the presence of Taylor, his arms folded over his breast, his eyes fixed on the ground.

As the noble hearted General expresses his sorrow that the captive's lot has fallen on one so brave, as in obedience to the command of Twiggs, the soldiers, arranged in battle order, saluted the prisoner with presented arms, there comes the rushing form of May, mounted on his well known charger.

"General, you did me to silence that battery. I have done it."

He placed in the hand of Zachary Taylor the sword of the brave La Vega.

My Bedfellow.

In a country town and during court week, I once rode on horseback at the end of a weary day, passed in a continuous mud hole, studded with stumps and ornamented with logs, that a benighted country called a road. Night had already closed in, and I was guided to the hotel by a thousand and one boys of the place, and the noise issuing from the bar room, as I approached, no less disagreeable. I found the landlord shut up in a corner pen, dealing out liquid insanity to his customers. To my request for supper and a bed, he responded that I could eat my fill, but that there was not a bed anengaged or not occupied in the house. I persisted until the wretch informed me that there was a "feller" in number six occupying a doublehead, and I could "roll in there" if so minded.

It was dismal, but my only hope so after the evening, indigestion I climbed the rough stairs to number six. I was told by the landlord to walk in without knocking, and did so.

It was a cheerless room, without carpet on the floor, or curtains to shut out the blank night of the windows that seemed to stare blindly in on one, and wink as the candle flared in the wind. I found my companion measuring off his dreams by snores, and undressing "rolled in," as the landlord had suggested. My stranger turned over with something like a growl and grunt, as I crept in to his side.

Tired as I was I could not sleep. The bed tick felt as if it were stuffed with grasshoppers, and the pillows were of the sort to slip up one's nose in the night, and be sneezed out sometime like a giant trying to blow "Old Hundred" through a tin horn, without knowing exactly how. I bore this infliction as long as I could, and at last gave my friend a dig in the ribs, exclaiming at the same time:

"I say!"

"Hillo—eh—what is it?" he asked, in a confused way.

"I am sorry to disturb you, but I think it my duty to inform you that I walk in my sleep."

"Well, walk."

"My Christian friend, I am well aware that this is a free country, and if a man wishes to walk in his sleep there is no constitutional provision to prevent him doing so. But I wish to remark that if I do walk, you had better not interfere with me."

"Oh! walk, I don't say a word about it."

"Well don't. When addressed in interested wise, I am apt to get furious. I nearly murdered a poor man with a dog iron the other night."

"The deuce, you do."

"Yes, I did."

"Well, that's rather disagreeable. A fellow might, under an impulse, blurt out something to you."

"Better not."

"No, I should think not."

A long pause followed this. At last the new wide-awake lodger asked abruptly:

"Did you notice my hat on the door?"

"I believe I did."

"If you walk, you know, I'd rather you wouldn't step in it."

"I'll bear that in mind."

After another pause he again asked:

"Did you notice that door on the left?"

"I saw a door on my left."

"Well, if you walk, I'd advise you not to go out there. It opens on a porch, on which the porch hasn't been built, and it's twenty feet down in to the stable yards."

"I don't believe I shall walk out of that door."

"Don't think I would if I walked much."

I suppose my inquisitive friend was dropping into a sleep, which he again broke out:

"I say did you really brain a man with a dog-iron?"

"I tried pretty hard."

Then came in a silence that was not broken. After a little while I heard my bedfellow creeping softly from the other side of the bed. I could hear him feeling about for his hat and his clothes. Then I had the satisfaction that the door was closed softly on my retreating tormentor. I rolled over and slept the sleep of innocence.

The next morning on descending to breakfast I found an old friend seated at the table. We had not met for years. After a cordial greeting he said:

"I have been trying, but I am nearly dead. I slept on a bench in the bar-room, amid a lot of drunken brutes, who sang Bingo for wagers to drink all night."

"Could you get no bed?"

"Yes, I had a double bed to myself, when that stupid landlord sent up a crazy fellow, who walked and struck out with dog-irons."

"Good heavens, Gillespie, was that you?"

"And hang you, Weston, you don't mean to say that you served me that trick?"

It was a case that called for diplomatic explanation.—Calvary.

Theophilus Parsons the Great Jurist.

Theophilus Parsons never had his superior at the bar, nor his equal on the bench in Massachusetts. When he took his seat on the latter, in 1806, business had so accumulated on the country dockets that few cases could come to trial in less than three years. Judge Parsons resolved that the dockets should be cleared. No delays were allowed, the cases took their turns, and counsel and client were made to understand that they must go to trial when called. A new face of things was soon visible in the courts, and all but the lawyers were satisfied. They said that the Chief Justice was arbitrary and overbearing, especially as he would never permit an argument to be made to the jury unsupported by evidence. He stopped Mr. Dexter in an argument one day, on the ground that he was trying to persuade the jury of that for which there was no evidence. The latter became quite angry and replied: "Your honor did not argue your own cases in the way you require us to." "Certainly not," was the reply, "but that was the judge's fault not mine."

At Worcester, the lawyers determined to resist the innovation. Frank Blake, the leading barrister of the county, was the Chief Justice's intimate friend. Him they put forward. He arose to argue a case. "Stop a moment, Brother Blake," interposed Chief Justice Parsons. "What points do you propose to present to the jury on this evidence?" "I will if your honor pleases, state them to the jury." "No; you must state them to the court first." "I decline doing so, may it please your honor; I insist on my right to address the jury in my own way." "Certainly, if you address them at all you may address them in your own way and there can be none better; but I must first know whether you have any case to speak about. I do not now see one, but perhaps you may point one out."

"I will endeavor to do so to the jury." "No, you must do so first to me." "This I positively decline" "Very well; with any view of the case I can now take, you will waste the time of the jury, the court and the country by any argument: "Mr. Sheriff, commit Mr. Blake to close jail" and quickly arose and began charging the jury. The Sheriff approached Mr. Blake, who rose to follow him, but the Judge interrupting his charge, said to the Sheriff: "Stop sir, a few moments, and gave the case to the jury. He then turned to the bar and said: "Brother Blake, will you go to jail now, or wait until you have got through some of your cases"

"I think," said Blake, "if it's all one to your honor, I will wait a little." The judge attended an evening supper party at Mr. Blake's house, when court adjourned, and the awkward scene narrated did not diminish the jollity of the gathering.

Still the bar would not yield. At Taunton, Mass., Mr. Burgess of Rhode Island, entered into the combat. He came dressed with the elegance and nicety of a gentleman of the old schoolsilk stocking, knee-buckles, breeches, lace ruffles and powdered hair. He, too, was an old personal friend of the judge, and had been sent for to do what could be done to gain a cause. A scene similar to the Blake affair occurred. By this time it was ascertained that if the points were asked for by the court they must be given. Mr. Burgess so far yielded, therefore, as to state one. "This is no point at all, Brother Burgess; have you not one?" "Yes, your honor," and stated it. "You have not a particle of evidence for that point, as you very well know, Brother Burgess; what other?" And so thing went on until the judge flatly refused to let him speak. "May it please your honor," said Mr. Burgess, "I think I have a good case, an excellent case, and believe I can satisfy the jury of it, and I demand as a matter of right permission to try." "A very good case you have, no doubt, Brother Burgess; but unluckily no evidence, and therefore nothing to go to a jury on." Mr. Burgess at once gathered up his papers and marched indignantly out of court. When the court adjourned for dinner the judge found Mr. Burgess haranguing the crowd upon the tyranny of Judge Parsons. Waiting a moment, he said: "come in and dine with me!" Burgess stopped a moment turned around, met Judge Parson's eye, and saying: "I give it up—I give it up," took the Judge's arm and went to dinner.

A Whole County Sinks in Florida.

The Florida mails give meagre and vague accounts of an astonishing phenomenon at Apopka, Orange County, near Pilatka. The whole county disappeared in one night, and Apopka is overlooked by a great lake. A correspondent, writing from the neighborhood to the Pilatka Herald, says:

Mr. Alex. K. Foster has just come in with more marvelous and startling reports. He says that on his way from Orlando to Millonville, after crossing Fort Mellon branch, he left the road to avoid the constant bogging to which he was subjected. The safest place he thought would be on the crown of a high black-jack ridge, running parallel with the road, which he accordingly took. After riding perhaps a mile his horse commenced bogging, and for some distance it was questionable whether he could get through; he however reached more solid footing; again he commenced bogging, at this time he noticed remarkable and portentous sounds in his rear. The bogging grew worse as he proceeded, until he had to dismount, there seemed no escape for him, both he and his horse were still bogging. The sounds in his rear increased more and more, and became more and more alarming and the route in front more boggy—he dare not stop, as this would have rendered it impossible to have extricated himself—he neither dare nor could look behind him, his whole thought and aim was to reach firma. At last, after the most superhuman exertions, both he and his horse exhausted to the most extreme degree, he reached solid ground. Turning to examine into the cause of those fearful sounds in his rear, he saw the most terrific and appalling sights it has ever been my fate to listen to. The first thing that attracted attention was that the trees were moving—first a gyratory motion of the top, then some sinking gradually out of sight, the tops revolving more and more rapidly as they sunk and disappeared, others following, and as they fell revolving and describing arcs of a circle against the sky. Then the whole earth, as far as the eye could reach, sinking and its place supplied by a sea of waters, rushing, seething, boiling with the noise of mighty cataracts, and ever and anon rent to the centre the roots, tops or bodies of mighty pines and oaks.

People are rusuing from the scene of disaster. Our camp is crowded with the terror-stricken inhabitants from the country in our rear. Everybody is waiting the forebodings and horrible expectations. They believe the day of judgment has come. The extraordinary phenomenon appears more and more extraordinary. The country from two to three miles from here to Lake Apopka is entirely submerged, and is now one vast lake. Nothing authentic is known beyond, though rumors are rife that Orlando is swallowed up, and the whole chain of lakes to Lake Conway are now united and form an immense inland sea. We leave immediately and in terror of our own fate. In haste yours.

Apopka, Fla.

Accepts the Situation.

The following truthful and sensible extracts are taken from the Live Georgian, a Democratic paper published at Atlanta:

We accept the Amendments to the Constitution as a finality, and earnestly advise the people, one and all, to respect and obey them as the supreme law of the land.

It is the bounden duty of the Southern people, cordially to accept the situation and advance forward, not backward, as Messrs. Toombs and Stephens would foolishly have them do. We are honest in our opinions, and if our advice in this regard offends, we can't help it. Let us go forward.

As matters now stand, General Grant is re-elected President of the United States.

The Northern Democratic bondholders say he holds the government with a strong hand, and that he protects their interests. That's to our mind a tolerable strong card for President Grant.

We are most happy to state that the young men of the South are not taking political color from such politicians as and Stephens. This is a noteworthy fact which should not be overlooked. They are only followed by a set of dead fossils; we sometimes amuse their juvenile hearers with their laced wit, on dead and damned issues.

It reminds us of writing the epitaph of a god upon the tombstone of a dead ass. From all such, good Lord deliver us.

Labor Conducive to Long Life.

In view of the short duration of life entailed by some occupations, it must be regarded as a consoling, yea, a sublime fact, that labor in general does not tend to shorten life; but, on the contrary, by strengthening health, lengthens life; while, on the other hand, idleness and luxury are productive of the same results as the most unhealthy occupations. Dr. Guy, an Englishman, in calculating the average duration of life of the wealthy classes, arrived at the very surprising result, with regard to adults, that the higher their position in the social scale the more unlimited their means, the less also the probability of a long life. We have been so long accustomed to consider the possession of riches as the best guarantee for physical welfare, that many will be surprised to hear from Guy that "the probability of the duration of life lessens, with regard to the adults in each class of the population, in the same degree as the beneficial impulse for occupation is lacking. If a person, who for a long time has lived an active life, retires from business, it may be taken for granted, with a probability of ten to one, that he has seized the most effective means to shorten his life

THE TEACHER'S WORK.

As some of our Schools have already opened and others soon will do so, we feel it not improper to briefly call attention to the work of those having charge of these Schools. It is not expected that the faithful teacher will enter the deep recesses of the mines, and bring forth the ore and sharpen it into such forms as will be most convenient for the various uses to which it may be applied; or is it within his province to take the wool, as it is clipped, and fashion it into fabrics to adorn and protect our bodies from cold; or take the cotton from the hands of the picker, and weave it into cloth. No, it is not any part of an instructor's duty to till the soil to produce the necessaries of life, or to shapen the different metals into the forms that science requires, for they have a nobler work before them, at least a more responsible one. They have plastic minds to mould, character to form, and habits to establish, that will tell on the future happiness and prosperity of the nation. The legislators, lawyers, judges, doctors and teachers of the next generation are in their hands, and duty requires them to produce a good article, for they will be arraigned before the bar of public opinion, forty years hence, and what will be their plea? Let each teacher answer the question.

The teacher is to produce good citizens. Implicit obedience to a superior power, as law gives, should be inculcated into the minds of every child growing up to man and woman hood. If the pupil leaves the school room with the idea that laws are made only as a matter of form and the breaking of them is only "a small affair," they will make very poor citizens.

The instructors of youth are to produce thinking men and women, not parrots to repeat theories without understanding the language used to express them. "What is worth doing at all is worth doing well." Order is Heaven's first law, and it should always be the law of the school room. No pupil should be indulged in being tardy, for it is a habit easily acquired, but not so easily eradicated.

Parents likewise have a duty to perform in this great work of properly educating the youth of our land. As long as so many of these fail in acting their part they have no just cause to find fault with the teacher if he should sometimes fail in his work. Let parent and teacher co-operate. Then the good work can be properly accomplished.

HOW THE FACTORY HELPS THE FARM.

In a recent letter to a friend in Iowa we asked the question: "Does it not cost you a bushel of wheat to send another to the New York market?" He replied that it did, but added, "We do not intend to send our wheat to New York. We are putting up mills to grind it for home consumption." His answer impressed us with the wisdom of the course he and his friends and neighbors have adopted. They are on the high road to success. They will not only make wheat, but at the same time a market.

Now while it don't cost us here in the South one quarter as much to ship our produce to the Northern cities, it would be well for us to learn a lesson from the live progressive people of the West. We grow Wheat and Corn, and in addition we make Cotton. Why not, instead of shipping the raw material, erect Mills and Factories and, like these men are doing in Iowa, make a home market for the flour and meal and fabrics? It is feasible. In this way the Factory can be made to help the Farm.

Experience has demonstrated that the Factory adds value to the Farm because it makes a home market. A home market saves the charges risks and waste of long carriage, the profits of intervening traders, and interest on delayed returns, and gives merchantable worth to produce that will not pay such charges. Better still, a home market is a sure market, little subject to the fluctuations incident to foreign demand. Regular home consumption steadies prices, drives out speculations, and gives to intelligent forethought a basis for reasonable calculation. Very correctly observes an able writer:

"The introduction of manufactures into agricultual communities brings together the essential elements of wealth-producing enterprise, establishing the shortest circuit of communication. This is in accordance not only with the laws of political economy, but of that higher order whereby nature conducts the commerce of the material world. The farmer and manufacturer each have needs which the other supplies; and to bring the two into such close connections that exchanges can be made with the the least possible cost, is a saving that must commend itself to the dullest mind. If our grain can be bartered for cloth made within sight of the field where it grew, that is plainly a better deal than sending the same grain to Liverpool to pay for fabrics woven in Yorkshire.

The proven incapacity and dishonesty of the Democratic leaders in New York involve the prominent men of the party everywhere in common distrust. The honest masses are refusing to longer follow them.

Ku Klux going North—those sentenced to confinement in the Albany Penetentiary.

"OUR SENATOR" EXPLAINS.

Hon GEO. W. BROOKS returned home on Tuesday evening. What has become of the crowd that, on a formal arrival, threw up their hats and gave him such a pompous ovation? Can "our Senator" explain the sullen silence of those demonstrative gentlemen, himself included?—North Carolinian, Sept. 28.

"Hast thou seen a farmer's dog bark at a beggar? Ay, Sir, and the creature run from the Cur. Then thou might'st behold the great image of authority. A dog is obeyed in office."

"The sullen silence of those demonstrative gentlemen" was caused by the action of the best government the world ever saw. When Judge Brooks restored the freedom of speech and "the great writ of right the crowd [illegible] and clapped their hands for joy and spoke its thoughts in burning words of honor to him; and was not penitent when rebuked for it by the CAROLINIAN. Since then the laws have changed. The law officer of this district has publicly, repeatedly, and exultingly proclaimed that the action of the last Congress made the President of the United States a despot; and he was glad of it. The crowd that on a former arrival, gave the Judge the pompous ovation believed this report and thought it best to keep silence, lest some tool of a tyrant like Hester the detective, should camp in the vicinity with his tobacco waggon and KuKlux disguises, seduce some of our neighbors children to his camp for trade in weapons, arrest them without warrant, abuse their parents for protesting against their detention, offering to prove their innocence of any crime and proposing to enter into bail for their appearance at Court, march them off to Raleigh, array them in his KuKlux disguises and exhibit them through the streets of the City for the fun of the "little niggers" the jibes and curses of the "Big niggers" and amusement of the "Radical gentlemen', with, cowhide and pistol waving to incarceration in a filthy jail, and cause our mellow hearted neighbor of the CAROLINIAN the extreme regret to have to chronicle the fact, "nearly 400 KuKlux have been taken to Raleigh for trial" from E. City. Knowing that such announcement would materially interfere with the benevolent plans of the CAROLINIAN in inducing Emigration South, with improved implements, better ways of culture, higher morality and more abundant means, the "demonstrative crowd" said "I will take heed to my ways that I sin not with my tongue. I will curb my mouth with a bridle while the wicked is before me."

RUFUS K. SPEED.

We give "Our Senator" the full benefit of his "explanation." We submit whether a continued "silence" would not have been more seemly than this public exhibition of the animus influencing him? Sympathy with the KuKlux violators of the law is not becoming, nor does it aid the party he has, time and again, so eloquently defended on the rostrum.

On the occasion we referred to in our notice above quoted his Honor Judge BROOKS declared that he had simply performed his duty. A certain party made it the occasion for an ovation, and "Our Senator" delivered the prettiest speech of his life. As his eloquent utterances fell on the evening air they sounded beautifully, and when they appeared in the Sentinel the delighted Democracy of the State were thrillingly convinced that oratory was not extinct in Eastern Carolina! A year passes. The same fearless and independent Judge again performs his duty, and once more reaches his home. Where is the crowd "to throw up their hats and clap their hands," and where the distinguished orator to "speak in burning words of honor to him?" Echo answers where?

Aye, times have changed. Judge BROOKS proclaims that the KuKlux organization—its aims, purposes and operations—is "the most damning blot upon the character of our State that history records," and he severely rebukes those "intelligent and influential citizens" who have failed to give it their "prompt and unqualified condemnation." Did anybody in Elizabeth City construe this as personal? And as the convicts and sentenced felons acknowledged themselves to be Conservatives and confessed that the purpose of the organization was to "put down the Radical and raise up the Democrat or Conservative party", was not the "sullen silence" caused more by mortification and grief because of the discomfiture and punishment of sworn friends and allies than from any imaginary fear as portrayed by "Our Senator?"

No, the "explanation" is too transparent. "Our Senator" knows better. He knows that during the past three weeks, at the Federal Court at Raleigh, it has been most clearly proven that the members of this "Klan," flushed with their might and power and clothed in the most frightful disguises, have laughed at the cries of children and mocked the prayers of wives and daughters as they have torn their victims from quiet and happy homes and dragged them to the neighboring woods and whipped them like felons, not for any crime, but because they were "d—d Radicals," and he knows that scores have confessed in open Court the commission of these hellish deeds. To quote from a Raleigh paper:

"One of them said he had been in seventeen raids! And when questioned as to what he did on a particular raid, declined to answer, but told His Honor, "I reckon you know, as you've got the records." Truly the acts of that particular night were too heinous to be detailed before, even, a company of males."

As to the Senator's flings at us and at the Government, we will only remark that it is one of his peculiar idiosyncrasies to scold and find fault. What can't be cured must be endured. He began with a quotation; we close with one.

"When my neighbor's ox is gored I laugh to see the sight,
But when my own is hit or hurt I'm mad enough to fight."

The local elections just held in Connecticut have resulted in great Republican gains. There is something remarkably suggestive in those great but conclusive triumphs, and that too in many of the strongest Democratic districts. It shows that the masses of the Democratic Party are getting restless and suspicious, and ready for a change.

Sensible men in the South begin to realize that the severest disaster that could befall us would be the triumph of the revolutionary Democracy. The South, indeed the whole country, wants peace, and that can only come by preserving the measures which grew out of peace, and have helped to make it prevalent and permanent.

THE LAW OF THE CASE.

As the exposures made by the Ku Klux trials are so terribly damaging to the Democratic party the unscrupulous among the leaders are raising a great clamor about the matter. They denounce the trial as a political movement. They declare that the jury was "packed" and pronounce the Judges charge as "extraordinary." Now there isn't a word of truth in any of these allegations. In this community it is well known that the jury were not all Republicans, and as to the charge of the Judge it simply explains the law of conspiracy. And it does so in these words.

"The offense charged is a conspiracy. It is not the assault or actual beating and injury that constitute the crime. These are the mere result of conspiracy—these are the conspiracy in motion. The offense is complete when two or more persons confederate and agree with the intent set out in the indictment, and all who consent and agree are guilty of the conspiracy.

Those who actually engage in carrying out what has been agreed upon, those who effect the intimidation or beating, or actually use the force to hinder the execution of the law, are not more guilty of the conspiracy than those who, though not actually present, agreed, confederated and consented together, to have the unlawful result accomplished."

Every lawyer will at once perceive that there is nothing in this beyond the well established and conspicous features of the law governing such cases. It is only to be regretted that the lawless men who appealed to violence, and those who assented to the appeal, to carry out purposes conceived in political passion, should not have perceived in advance the criminality of their project. Now that it has been explained, and the explanation enforced by the wholesome illustration of a half score of active outlaws to a remote prison, it is to be hoped that there will be no further misunderstanding on the subject, in this State, at least.

The Federal Court at Raleigh adjourned on the 3rd inst., to the last Saturday in November. The following persons were sentenced to two years imprisonment: James Sweezey, William Deprie?, Laurence Teil, Barton Biggerstaff.

The following to one year: Leander Toms, N. T. Thomas, Alvin Johnson, Peter Baxter, T. O. Lackey; and eleven others were imprisoned for six months.

The Sentinel of the 9th stated that on Thursday a warrant was issued for the arrest of U. S. Marshal CARROW and his Deputy, named Basker, for the illegal arrest and imprisonment of eight citizens of this State. A telegram from Raleigh states that JOSIAH TURNER, Jr., the editor of The Sentinel, has been arrested, charged with a conspiracy to obstruct the U. S. Marshal while in the lawful discharge of the duties of his office, and he was held to bail for appearance in Court in November.

There is a terrible conflagration spreading through the woods and praries of Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa. The country is said to be as dry as tinder. Grain fields, fences, buildings etc., are being destroyed.

The Sentinel, now that the Federal Court has adjourned, is again boiling over with wrath. It prates about the packing of juries and all such groundless nonsense. We think it is the Albany Penetentiary that is being packed.

Hon. S. S. ASHLEY, Superintendent of Public Instruction, has resigned because of ill health. Gov. CALDWELL has appointed Prof. ALEXANDER MCIVER, late of the University, to succeed him.

"New Departure" seems to mean a departure of honest Democrats into the ranks of the Republicans.

The largest fire that ever occurred in this country took place at Chicago on Saturday and Sunday.

New Books, Periodicals &c.

A COLLECTION OF LEADING CASES ON THE LAW OF ELECTIONS IN THE UNITED STATES. By Frederick C. Brightly 8vo. pp. 781. Kay & Brother, Philadelphia.

In the absence of any work devoted exclusively to the legal aspects of the question of popular suffrage, the author of the present volume has been induced to make a collection of cases that have been decided on this subject by the courts, together with a statement of the authorities on which the decisions have been founded. The information which it presents is mostly of a novel character, as many of the cases have never been reported, or are extant only in works that are not easily accessible to the general student. Several other cases are selected from the Reports of distant States, which are not usually found in the private library of a lawyer. In addition to the function of the volume as a digest of important cases, it presents the views of the author on their political relations and bearings, especially as illustrative of the evils of an elective judiciary, holding by a limited tenure, the influence of which in the exercise of discretionary powers, in political cases, he considers a source of the greatest danger to the free institutions of this country. He has given the most explicit utterance to his opinions on this subject, and submitted several recent decisions to a course of stringent criticism.

This work is elegantly bound in calf, and retails at $7,50. Every lawyer ought to have a copy in his library.

NEWSPAPER CHANGE.—At the close of the present volume on November 1st, the "Carolina Farmer and Weekly Star," now combined, published at Wilmington, N. C., by Wm. H. Bernard, Esq. will be issued as separate publications. The "Carolina Farmer" will be issued, as originally, in monthly magazine form, with handsome cover and title page, and will be devoted exclusively to Agriculture, Horticulture and kindred subjects. The first issue will appear December 1st, as a specimen number, and the regular volume will commence January 1st, 1872. Subscription price, $2,00 per year in advance.

SCHOOL HOUSES. BY JAMES JOHNSON. Architectural Designs by S. E. REES. New-York: J. W. SCHERMERHORN & Co.

This is an elegant and extremely valuable work on the proper construction of school buildings. It contains nely-drawn designs, ranging from the plainest and cheapest styles to the most quate and expensive, accompanied by clear and intelligent comments and explanations. The impoatant subjects of heating and ventilation, as well as other scarcely less important ones of comfort and convenience, are fully attended to. A copy of the book ought to be in the hands of construction of a new schoolhouse of the renovation of an old one.

SCRIBNERS MONTHLY. This excellent Magazine for October is on our table. Its contents are rich and varied, and its illustrations remarkably effective. Its editorial department is unusually full and interesting.

With the first number of third volume (November,) Scribner's Monthly will be enlarged, and greatly increased in popular interest. The price will hereafter be the same as that of the other leading Magazines, $4 per year, and the publishers promise to spare no pains or expense to make it the best magazine in the world.

Correspondence.

From Chowan County.

WARDVILLE, Chowan Co., N. C.
Sept. 25th, 1871.

To the Editor of the North Carolian:

I think you have never visited this part of Chowan county, although you have been near here a few times. Allow me to extend you an invitation to visit us at your leisure. I think a trip up here would please you. Perhaps you would not know when you arrive in the place unless some one should tell you as we have no City or Town.

It is now grape time, and the crop is pretty fair. The Scouppernong grape and other varieties can be raised in this section in great varieties. Our people are engaged in hauling this fruit to market. Besides supplying Edenton, Hertford and Elizabeth City, a large portion have to be carried to Virginia Cities. This is done mostly by carting. Just think for a moment of a small farmer raising sixty, eighty or a hundred bushels of Scouppernong grapes, and then in order to save his crop he must be up day and night nearly all the while (Sunday's excepted) for about three or four weeks, driving to and from market. Thirty or forty loads per day is no unusual amount in Norfolk Market. This carting is very laborious to man and beast, and hence we desire the "capital and enterprise" of the NORTH CAROLINIAN to encourage Capitalists to subscribe and build the Edenton & Suffolk Rail Road. The proposed Road as already surveyed is in a fine country and the people generally desire its completion. This section is well adapted to vegetables and fruits of various kinds, and therefore we need quick transportation to secure the best prices. I hope Mr. Editor that as you understand the situation, you will continue to act on the "Committee of Ways and Means," and secure the building of this Road at an early day.

Wishing you continued success,
I remain, yours &c.,
J. A. WARD.

Europe.

OCTOBER 3.—A fight has occurred between the police and the Fenians at Cork. The crew of the Magsera is safe. The strikes have extenced to Sheffield. Efforts are making in France to procure a modification of M. Rochefort's sentence. More reenforcements have left Spain for Cuba. The Swedish Parliament has passed the compulsory military service bill.

OCTOBER 4.—A French man-of-war is ashore on the coast of Hayti. Four hundred women have joined the English strikers. Over 50,000 emigrant left Liverpool during the last three months. The treaty negotiations between France and Germany have been concluded. Several of Napoleon's political agents have been arrested in Paris. The Swedish Ministry have resigned. Senor Rivero is now named for President of the Spanish Cortes.

OCTOBER 5.—Five men have been killed by a coal mine explosion in Scotland. The crew of the Megsera have arrived in Australia. An anti-Papal movement is in progress in Germany. Paris has voted two millions of francs to repair the monuments and public buildings. Sagasta will probably be the next President of the Spanish Cortes. Juarez's election in Mexico is arrured.

OCTOBER 6.—A crisis has occurred at Madrid. The Zorrilla Ministry resigned, and a new one was formed by Admiral Malcampo. No armistice will be granted to the Communists. Complaints of German outrages on the occupied territory are made to M. Thiers. A terrible explosion occurred in England. The Renforth crew have arrived home.

OCTOBER 7.—M. Rochefort's sentence has been commuted to banishment from French territory for life. The Prussians in Dijon are charged with tyrannical acts. Another compromise is under consideration by the Newcastle strikers. The Democrats in Spain are making demonstrations against the new Cabinet. Twenty-two Governors of Provinces have resigned. The German Budget asks for increased appropriations for the navy and coast defenses. Twenty professors in the University of Rome have refused to take the oath of allegiance to Victor Emanuel.

OCTOBER 9.—Seven lives were lost by the sinking of a vessel in Yarmouth, Eng. One of the leaders in the attacks on the German residents in Lyons, has been arrested. The workmen of Ghent are on a strike. The new Cabinet of Spain is not in working order yet. More reenforcement are to be sent to Cuba. Two convents in Rome have been occupied by Italian troops.

More damning facts relating to the great thefts of Tammany are coming out. An examination of practical workmen discloses more fully the shameful frauds which everybody knew had been perpetrated in furnishing the New Court-House. The famous carpets, which were reputed to have cost over $350,000, are found to be worth, when new, only $12,000. There is only $100,000 worth of furniture where the insatiate Ingersoll claims to have put in about one million and a half dollars worth; and a beggarly $140,000 would liberally pay for the cabinet and carpenter work which Miller, Ingersoll, and the rest got over a million dollars for doing. This is swindling on the largest scale. Yet the Mayor, who was a party to paying these monstrous bills, airily rides into court and makes a speech about the malice of his "political enemies!"

Wil., Char. & Ruth. R. R. Co. Office Chief Engineer and Gen. Supt., Wilmington, N. C. Sept. 29, 1871.

I am authorized to state that a contract has been made with Messrs. Cameron, Drane & Co., and that they have effected their arrangements to finish this Road to Charlotte and Shelby, on or before the first day of November, 1872.

It is understood that the work will be commenced within thirty days.

S. L. Fremont,
Chief Engineer.

NOTICE IN BANKRUPTCY.

District Court of the United States, } In Bankruptcy.
For the Albemarle District. }

In the matter of J. L. Knight, a Bankrupt

NOTICE is hereby given that a petition has been filed in said court by J. L. Knight of Martin county, and State of North Carolina, in said district, duly declared a bankrupt under the act of Congress of March 2d, 1867, for a discharge and certificate thereof from all his debts and other claims provable under said act, and that the 21st day of Oct. 1871, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the office of T. W. Costen, Register in Bankruptcy, in Elizabath City, N. C., is assigned for the hearing of the same, when and where all creditors, who have proved their debts, and other persons in interest may attend and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted; and that the second meeting will be held at the same time and place

Dated at Edenton, N. C. on the 18th day of Oct, a. d 1871.

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisement in this ist.
See Assignee's Notices.
Financial Report of County Commissioners.
Creditor's Notice ostrte of J. L. Knight.
Court Notice. J. W Baxter, from Currituck.
Bowells New York advertisements.

Local and Personal.

☞ The communication on "Farmer's Clubs" will appear in our next issue.

☞ His Honor Judge POOL will hold Court in Hertford county next week.

☞ A large amonnt of Cotton is now being shipped from this port. And it is demanding a fair price.

☞ Hon. C. L. COBB left for Washington on Thursday morning last, to be absent some days.

☞ Chaplain W. R. COBB has been appointed Professor of Ethics in the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

☞ The Federal Court will commence at this place on next Monday (Oct. 16th) instead of on the 23d as stated last week. Let those interested take note of this.

☞ From certain visible evidences we see about town we infer that laziness is a good deal like money—the more one has of it the more he wants.

☞ Our respected townsman Geo. W. CHARLES Esq., has returned. He was one of the jurors at the Federal Court at Raleigh.

☞ The favor of our Jamesville correspondent has been received. The remittance, his kind words, and his items of local news were alike appreciated.

☞ The Steamer Hertford left this Port on Saturday for Wilmington. We understand that she has been purchased by Messrs. NORTHRUP & CUMMING of that City. Price $5,500.

☞ The tax payers of Currituck are complaining, and very justly, of the extraordinary and excessive poll tax levied by their County Commissioners. The people, over there, are only reaping one of the luxuries of modern Democracy.

☞ We publish this week the Annual Report of the County Commissioners for the fiscal year ending September 9 1871. The exhibit made is certainly a healthy one and reflects great credit on the financial management of the County.

☞ At the Colored Convention held at Edenton on Thursday last to select a delegate to represent this District in the National Convention at Columbia, S. C., on the 18th., THOMAS A. SYKES was elected. Mr. SYKES is a good selection, he being one of the most prominent as well as talented representative of his race in Eastern Carolina. The proceedings reached us too late for this issue.

☞ At a meeting of the Board of City Commissioners held on the 3rd of July the following order was passed, to wit:
"That a Finance Committee be appointed to examine into the financial condition of this town as it existed on the 5th day of May last, and report the same to this Board, and that the report be published".

The tax payers of the City have been anxiously waiting to see that report.

☞ Our Wardsville correspondent will accept our thanks for his kind invitation. He need not be surprized should we accept it ere long. As for the work we are engaged in, depend upon it, we are in earnest. We are not in the habit of looking back. The NORTH CAROLINIAN will continue to agitate and in spite of the Old Fogies its efforts will be crowned with success. By the way, let it have more readers at Wardsville.

☞ A friend has shown us a sample of "Egyptian Cotton," grown on his lot in town, which is a very fine article, the staple very far superior to any ever grown in this section, and pronounced by competent judges to be nearly equal to the celebrated "Sea Island Cotton." He received the seed from the Agricultural Department at Washington, and planted it on the 1st of May. It came up well and grew luxuriantly. It was noticed that the cool weather of the spring, which killed so much of the ordinary cotton, did not affect this at all. If this new variety proves to be adapted to this soil and climate, as from present indications appears to be a fact, it will add immensely to the profit of cotton growing in this locality, and thus be an additional inducement for capitalists to invest here. It will be remembered that the "Sea Island cotton" is worth about four times as much as the ordiuary variety.

☞ It is astonishing what a live, energetic, progressive man can do for a town or neighborhood. As an instance we refer to Dr. WILLIAM UNDERWOOD and the improvements he has inaugurated in our City and the impetus he has given to business in our community. See the Mills he has had erected, the Improved Machinery he has introduced and the employment he has been the means of giving to hundreds of needy Mechanics and Laboring Men. And then in our City: See what he has accomplished. But for him the Long Bridge would not yet have been rebuilt; but for him the new bridges over Poindexter Creek on the Northern and over Charles Creek on the Southern ends of the City would would not have been made, and by the way a large portion of the money for these was raised by his personal efforts, a voluntary gift to the City: but for him streets that were one third of the time impassable and covered with stagnant water producing malaria, would have re-mained as offenses against comfort, good taste and the public health. "Visionary" he has been called, and perhaps he is, but people are now satisfied that one such man can accomplish more for Elizabeth City in a single year than all the old Fogies would do in a hundred!

☞ We have just been shown a new Map of Pasquotank county got up expressly for the Land and Lumber Company by our townsman WM. H. WEATHERLY. It is one of the most complete local maps we ever saw. All the streams, roads, farms, churches, mills,—indeed every point of interest are carefully and accurately laid down. The towns and villages, especially Elizabeth City and Nixonton, are correctly drafted and the lettering, coloring and finishing are neatly executed. As a work of art it is very creditable to Mr. WEATHERLY. We were not aware that we had such talent in our City. It is designed to have the Map lithographed.

☞ The love for "our native land" and especially of home is as natural as it is universal. It is a fact based upon sound philosophy. It is planted deep in human nature itself. The finest strains that the most illustrious prima donna ever sang can not compare with the effect that has been ten thousand times produced by the simple song:

"Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home;
A charm from the sky seems to hallow us there
Which, seek through the world, is ne'er met with elsewhere."

The reason that this simple ballad has had such power, is because it strikes not only individuals, but the heart and soul of all mankind. The finest enjoyments of statesmen, of even warriors, and scholars, are not in public life, in warfare, in books. They are the enjoyment of home; the inexpressible delights of the domestic hearth which blazes ever more with the light and warmth of heaven.

LOCAL PORT-FOLIO.

The question of the day—the developement of specie. Fee simple—a quack doctor's pay. Voices of the night—babies. Young lawyers are like the National currency—because they are legal tender and somewhat green. Beginning to squeal—the dying porkers. New mew-sic—kittens. Early pearl—a baby's tooth. The first person singular—Adam. A fleeting show—a traveling circus. "Not at Home"—an out and out lie. A confidence operation—eating sausages and buying eggs. One of woman's best gifts to man—a clean shirt. Go hand in hand—democracy and corruption. The best band to accompany a lady vocalist—a hus-band. Neglected to put in an appearance—the "tidal wave." Getting more lively—business. The great American "ism"—journalism.

Business Locals.

New Goods in abundance at the Store of the "Land & Lumber Company." The largest stock ever brought to Elizabeth City. Go and see them. New advertisement next week.

We know that for cleaning paint, windows, china and glassware; for polishing knives, tin, iron, brass and copper wares, and for removing stains from marble and procelain, and rust from machinery, Enoch Morgan's Sons' Sapolio is the best thing in use. 15—5t.

All speak in praise of the "Cold Water Soap." Sold by Dr. D. T. Krebs & Co.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

TRUST WHAT TIME HAS SANCTIONED.—The maxim that the voice of the people is the voice of the divinity, may in some cases, be open to doubt, but the testimony of honest and enlightened witnesses extending through a series of years, and all to the same purport, is worthy of credence, admits of no question. Upon such testimony the reputation of Hostter's Stomach Bitters as an antidote and cure for many ailments is based. During the twenty years that it has been before the word, innumerable preparations intended to compete with it, have gone up like rockets, and come down the extinguished sticks. Meanwhile the progress of that incomparable tonic has been swift and steady—always upward and onward like the eagle's flight. Its introduction produces a revolution in therapeutics, and it proved to be one of those salutary revolutions that cannot go backwards. To-day Hostetter's Bitters is one of the most popular remedies in christendom, and commands a larger sale than any other medicinal preparation, domestic or imported, on this side of the Atlantic. As a cure for dyspepsia, bilious disorders, nervous affections, general debility, and as a preventive of epidemic fevers, it takes precedence of every other remedy. This fact should teach the ambitious country dealers who endeavor to foist their local abortions on the public in its stead, how futile their small attempts to cajole the community must necessarily be. Where the game fish have failed there is no chance for the "suckers."

PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY

IN EDENTON, N. C.

I would announce to the public that I have opened a first class Gallery in Edenton. Having had twenty years experience in the profession, and always keeping posted in every improvement in the Art, I am prepared to do work of all kinds equal to the best Artists in the cities. My instruments are all new and of the best kind. All work guaranteed to give satisfaction.

I have also just opened a new Watch Makers Shop in my Photographic Gallery, where I am prepared to do all kinds of work in the line of repairing Watches, Jewelry, Chronometers, also Gold and Silver plating done in the best style. All work guaranteed. Having had fifteen years extensive practice in the business I flatter myself to be able to give entire satisfaction. All I ask is a trial.

AGRICULTURAL, HORTICULTURAL AND DOMESTIC MATTERS.

Abraham Lincoln on thorough Farming.

It was not often that the Giant of Sangamon could swing his mind away from the court calendar and the impending conflict to speak of corn and wheat and plowing. But when he did, his talk was pregnant with that saving common sense which the events of the last years of his life made of vital importance to the country. Witness the following paragraph from a cattle show speech made at Milwaukee in 1859:

For the last four years I do not believe the ground planted with corn in Illinois has produced an average of 20 bushels to the acre. It seems, that, heretofore we have had be ter crops, with no better cultivation; and I believe it is also true that the soil has never been pushed to one half of its capacity.

What should be the effect upon the farming interest to push the soil up to something near its full capacity? Unquestionably it will take more labor to produce 50 bushels from one acre, than it will to produce 10 bushels from the same acre. But will it take more labor to produce 50 bushels from one acre, than from five? Unquestionably, thorough cultivation will require more labor to the acre; but will it require more labor to the bushel? If it should require just as much to the bushel, there are some probable, and several certain advantages in favor of the thorough practice. It is probable it would develop those unknown causes, which of late have cut down our crops below their former average. It is almost certain, I think, that in the deeper plowing, analysis of the soils, experiments with manure, and varieties of seed observance of seasons, and the like, these causes would be found. It is certain that thorough cultivation would spare half or more than half the cost of the land, simply because the same product would be got from half or from less than half the quantity of land. This proposition is self-evident, and can be made no plainer by reptitions or illustrations. The cost of land is a great item, even in new countries; and constantly grows greater, in comparison with other items, as the country grows older.

It would also spare the making and maintaining of inclosures—the same, whether those inclosures should be hedges, ditches, or fences. This, again, is a heavy item—heavy at first, and heavy in its continual demand for repairs. I remember once being greatly astonished by an apparently authentic exhibition of the proportion, the cost of an inclosure bears to all the other expenses of the farmer, though I cannot remember exactly what that proportion was. Any farmer, if he will, can ascertain it in his own case, for himself.

Again, a great amount of "locomotion" is spared by thorough cultivation. Take 50 bushels of wheat, ready for the harvest, standing upon a single acre, and it can be harvested in any of the known ways, with less than half the travel which would be required if it were spread over five acres. This would be true, if cut by the old hand sickle; true, to a greater extent if by the machines now in use. These machines are chiefly valuable as a means of substituting animal power for the power of men in this branch of farm work. In the highest degree of perfection yet reached in applying the horse power to harvesting, fully nine tenths of the power is exhausted by the animal tearing himself and dragging the machine over the field, leaving certainly not more than one-tenth to be applied directly to the only end of the whole operation—the gathering in of the grain and clipping of the straw. When grain is very thin on the ground, it is always more or less intermingled with weeds, chess, and the like, and a large part of the power is expended in cutting these. It is plain that, when the crop is very thick upon the ground, a large proportion of the power is directly applied to gathering in and cutting it, and the smaller to that which is totally useless as an end. And what I said of harvesting is true in a greater or less degree of mowing, plowing, gathering in of crops generally, and indeed, of almost all farm-work.

HENS IN PLACE OF DOGS.—There is hardly a family that does not throw away enough table scraps to keep at least half a dozen hens, and many that keep a nuisance in the shape of a dog, that does no good, but costs more than a dozen hens, complain that they cannot afford to keep hens. One dog in a neighborhood is greater trouble to the neighbors than a flock of hens would be, for if hens are well fed at home they will rarely go away. But who ever saw a dog that was not a pest running across the newly made garden, and sticking his nose into everything. Kill off the curs and give the food to the hens, and you will find pleasure as well as profit in so doing. We wish there was a tax of one hundred dollars on every dog kept in the country. Those that are of value as watch dogs could be retained, while the host of snarling, dirty curs would give place to some more useful and less troublesome pet.—Poultry Standard.

A correspondent of The Country Gentleman says if copperas and saltpeter water are used around pear trees, the trees will show effect in a large yield of fruit. He tried this on a Bartlett pear tree that had yielded no fruit for two years previous; that year it yielded 155 large, fine pears, and the following year not large, fine ones, and it is still doing finely. If pear trees want iron, which most soils are deficient in, sulphate of iron or copperas is a good way to supply it.

THE WILD GOOSE PLUM.—"Rural" writes in the Chicago Tribune that at Du Quoin he saw samples of the Wild Goose Plum, a wild native of Tennessee, that promises to be of some value. It is a very pretty red plum, of fair size, nearly round, with a thick skin, and soft, rather pleasant flesh. The curculio does not injure it to any great extent. It differs from the Hinckley or Townsend plum of Galena, as the latter is blue, though the trees are somewhat similar in appearance.

Democratic papers in Virginia are fearful of failure in the coming election. The Richmond Enquirer says frankly it does not like the political outlook in the State, that the Conservatives are conducting themselves in a reckless and suicidal manner, and that there is great danger of defeat.

The Weldon News says the work upon the new route for the Petersburg road, between that place and Garysburg, is being pushed rapidly forward.

It is stated that the late frosts inflicted considerable injury upon the buck wheat crop in New Jersey.

The Florida papers all agree that not more than half a cotton crop will be gathered in that State.

The Baptiste of Weldon are to have a new house of worship erected without delay.

The North Carolina M. E. Conference meets on the 29th of November at Charlotte.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by rail with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses, all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2,000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotank county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $2,000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3,000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A nice steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pair of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other outhouses. The section of country is well timbered, and lumber is low, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3,500, $7,00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep; has good buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., which cost over $1,500 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large, with dwelling above containing six rooms, all in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splendid stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500 one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 500 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c., balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, of say 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splendid trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, poplar, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next, balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 570 acres 5 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River, which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm in whole length on one side, and a branch of the River, one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A tract of valuable land, containing 356 acres, with fine two story dwelling containing 9 rooms and cook-room. Servant's house with 3 rooms, large barns and stables, all necessary and convenient out-houses, 3 tenant-houses near town, and immediately on the River. About 150 acres of this land is in fine wood and timber, balance in a fine state of cultivation. It has 8,000 grape vines one year old, 3,500 peach, apple and dwarf pear trees, five acres in strawberries which yielded a handsome profit this year, ten acres in Lawton and other rare varieties of black-berries, 15 to 20,000 young peach trees with other choice fruits too numerous to mention. This farm has a public road on one side, and the River on the other, where strangers come daily to the landings to receive the fruits and vegetables, and carry them down to Norfolk, Baltimore, Philadelphia, or New York. The land is finely adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, and all other field crops.

The owner of this farm offers to sell in tracts, to suit purchasers, say in 50 to 100 acre tracts, and at prices ranging from $35 to $80 per acre, according to location, buildings, &c.

There is also on this farm a fine fishery, where a seine 1,000 yards long, and 20 feet deep is hauled every Spring. Herring, Shad, Rock-fish, Sturgeon and other valuable fish, are caught by thousands at every draw of the seine. And the profits are frequently large. This fishery of itself is worth nearly as much as is charged for the whole property. The terms will be liberal. This is probably the finest opportunity offered any where for a profitable investment.

☞ Fishery has an office, and two houses for hands besides fish house. Then some 500 to 1,000 loads of best fish manure on hand, besides over 5,000 loads of compost made ready for use. This goes with the farm.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

LAND AND LUMBER COMPANY'S COLUMN.

LAND AND LUMBER COMPANY

OF

NORTH CAROLINA.

Incorporated by the Legislature of North Carolina, December 17, 1868.

CAPITAL STOCK - - - - $300,000,00.

General Office: Elizabeth City, N. C.

OFFICERS

J. M. WEED, President. C. W. SMITH, Treasurer.

C. H. ROBINSON, Secretary.

DIRECTORS

J. M. WEED, WM. UNDERWOOD, CHARLES W. SMITH, N. R. ZIMMERMAN AND G. B. THOMPSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE LAND AND LUMBER COMPANY, having a large amount of Real Estate of their own to dispose of, and their business having increased to such an extent, they think it prudent to decline acting further as Commission Agents for the sale of lands belonging to others. They will however be glad at all times to furnish every facility to parties coming to Elizabeth City with a desire to look at the country and make purchases if they find it to their interest to do so.

The following list of property, owned by the Company, is offered for sale on the most reasonable terms. Their object now is to acquire a larger monied capital for the purpose of further developing their unimproved lands and carrying out their original design of increasing the Commerce and General Trade of Elizabeth City.

As there are others in the Commission Business, parties are referred to their advertisement for further information.

ELIZABETH CITY.

The following desirable list of Properties in Elizabeth City are offered at very reduced prices for cash or on time payments at rates which make any of them excellent investments for capitalists. We feel confident that this City is destined to become a large place and property will advance rapidly. Emigration is now tending Southern ward and the feeling is in universal favor toward Elizabeth City.

A large two-story dwelling known as the Parsonage, with fine double Piazza, front and back, large out kitchen, stables, carriage house, with 17 acres of ground well enclosed. This ground is all within the corporation of the City, and is well situated to lay out in building lots and make out of it ten fold the price asked for it.

A two-story dwelling containing ten rooms, 10,000 gallon cistern and all necessary out-houses, with large lot. Situated on Main Street. A Vacant Lot no better located and not so large as this was sold recently for $1600 cash.

A large brick store house and wharf situate on Water street; in E. City, comprising three lots with 400 feet of water front, permanently wharfed for the accommodation of large vessels. There is erected on these lots a large two-story brick building, 50 by 80 feet, well fitted up for a wholesale or retail trade at present occupied by the "Yankee Store."

A large wood store on west side of Water street 36 by 60, two stories high, being one of the best stands on Water street for merchandizing.

A House and Lot on Riverside Avenue. House 20ft front by 50 ft deep. Containing eight rooms with Pantry and Cellar, all well finished, modern, style, and having all necessary out buildings. The lot contains a front of 400 ft, and would be a good location for a large shop or foundry as one whole side fronts on the water.

Also a large number of Wharf Lots, Mill Lots and Vacant Lots at very low prices, some of which are enumerated below. The Wharf Lots are 200ft deep and will be sold to any size desired along the River. Among them are some most eligible situations for Store Houses, Mills and Manufactories of any kind as there is a fine harbor immediately in front of them, having 30ft of water, sufficient for vessels of any capacity. Along Pennsylvania Avenue are offered some of the finest and choicest lots, for dwellings in town at prices varying according to location. This will be the finest street in town, is 80 feet wide, size of Lot 100ft front by 200ft deep. There are now a number of first class residences being erected on this street. Immediately in the vicinity of these Lots the Company have erected a large Planing Mill, Sash, Blind and Door Factory at a cost of near $20,000 and also their Saw Mill at a cost of near $15,000. That now is the proper time to invest in those Lots there can be no doubt, as they will double in value in a very short time. Lots not near so good as these, are now selling in other parts of the City at more than double the price asked for these.

VACANT LOTS.

Lots Nos. 150, 155, 158, 161, 163, 165, 167, 170, 172, 175, 178, 180, 182, 185, 187, 190, 193, 195, 198 and 200, situate on Pennsylvania avenue, in the new extension of Elizabeth City, all choice lots, intended for the better class of residences. Size of lots 100 feet front by 200 feet deep. Price varying, according to location, from $100 to $1000.

TOWN LOTS.

Lots Nos. 250, 253, 255, 256, 258, 261, 263, 266, 267, 268, 271, 283, 285, 287, 288, 289, 291, 296, 299 and 300, situated on various Streets in the new extension of Elizabeth City, size of lots 50 feet front by 100 feet deep, at prices varying from $25 to $100.

MILL LOTS.

Four Mill-Lots situated on Knobb's Creek, so that logs can be taken from the creek to the mill. These lots have 200 feet each of water front, and over 600 feet deep to Mill street, and are choice sites. The purchaser will also have the right of storage for logs in the boom.

PASQUOTANK COUNTY.

The Land and Lumber Company also offer for sale, one thousand acres of their timbered land along the Main Road leading from Elizabeth City to Hertford and Edenton. Said land heavily wooded, soil very rich and about four miles from Elizabeth City. This land will be sold in lots to suit purchasers and at the low price of ten dollars per acre.

They also offer a tract of three thousand acres in Lots to suit purchasers, near the Pasquotank River, ten miles from Elizabeth City and three miles from South Mills. This land is heavily set with wood and also has upon it a vast amount of saw timber, and has a most excellent soil. This is a fine location for a small Colony. There is now a Public Road running directly through it. This tract is offered at the low price of eight dollars per acre if sold to one party, or at only a fraction more if divided into small lots.

The Company will also sell their farm of 250 acres two miles from Elizabeth City. 125 acres cleared and under good cultivation, well fenced, having upon it two dwelling houses, one new and the necessary out buildings wanted on a farm, and will be sold on very reasonable terms.

Also another farm one mile from Elizabeth City containing one hundred acres, between thirty and forty acres cleared and under cultivation, the balance is now being cut off and is nearly ready to be cleared up and cultivated. This property is very desirable being so near the City though for reasons first given will be sold at a very low price.

We have a finely timbered tract of land situated on the Albemarle Sound twenty miles from Elizabeth City, containing 124 acres. Good timber land bordering on the water is valuable both for wood as well as saw timber as water transportation affords a good margin for wood, say one dollar per cord. This will also make good farm land—will be sold for one thousand dollars.

Also one other tract of land containing 154 acres situated immediately on the Pasquotank River ten miles from Elizabeth City, valuable for wood, and if excellent farming lands, would be sold for six dollars per acre.

GATES COUNTY.

The Land & Lumber Company have a tract of 360 acres of timbered land one half mile from Chowan River and three miles from Winton the county seat of Hertford county. This body of land is well timbered and will be sold at the low price of three dollars per acre.

☞ The most direct and cheapest route is to go to Baltimore by N. C. R. R., then Bay Line steamer to Norfolk, Va., then steamer to Elizabeth City, N. C.

March 9th 1871.

DR. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Has made the most astonishing cures; so quick, so rapid are the changes the body undergoes, under the influence of this truly wonderful medicine, that

EVERY DAY AN INCREASE IN FLESH AND WEIGHT IS SEEN AND FELT

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphili, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumorous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges. Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastess, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure—a cure is certain; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of waste, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excels all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases; but it is the only positive cure for KIDNEY & BLADDER COMPLAINTS, Urinary, and Womb diseases, Gravel, diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinuence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust, deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the Small of the Back and along the Loins.

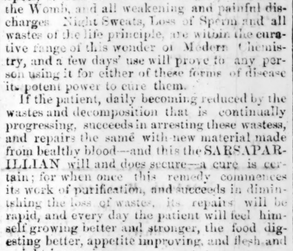
VINEGAR BITTERS



J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO. Druggists and Gen'l Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 & 34 Commerce St., N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects. They are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar power of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, the VINEGAR BITTERS have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them unequaled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the System in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuge, no anthelmintic, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers.
